To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is to say that Paulina Modlitba was a student in my course, Common Sense Reasoning for Interactive Applications, MAS 969, at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, MA, USA, during the fall semester of 2005. She did an excellent project, entitled Senseario: An interactive application for improving emotional awareness, in collaboration with fellow student Temitope Sonuyi. As a visiting student, she did not receive an official grade, but if I were to grade her, she would have received an A (highest grade) for the course.

Sincerely,

Henry Lieberman
